Smiling his way to SUCCESS

Sri Lanka - born Derrick Junkeer, now based in Melbourne, Australia, was presented with a prestigious award by the BWS Australian chain of hotels.

He was selected as the best male vocalist for "Morning Melodies" for the year 2007 and the award presentation took place at a gala dinner held in Melbourne which, according to reports coming our way, was attended by over 1500 guests.

The award not only recognized Derrick Junkeer for his magnificent vocal ability and his enthusiasm and graciousness as a performer, but also for his pleasant manner on and off stage - an artiste with a radiating smile who seems to attract audiences from all over Australia.

Derrick is a very talented TV and recording artiste Down Under and has made many fans over the years in that part of the world. He has also been a regular performer on many Australian TV shows nationwide.

Last year, too, Derrick won a big award, presented to him by the Sri Lankan community for his outstanding achievements - as the best male vocalist and entertainer of international standard.

The award ceremony took place at the Crown Palladium in Melbourne.

Derrick is also a host on the Sri Lankan Morning Show in Melbourne.

Since his musical debut in 1974 in Australia, his career has soared and his fan base continues to grow. He has to his credit several albums and a DVD.

Derrick has a singing voice which does justice to songs of Engelbert and Tom Jones.

And the good news for Sri Lankans, in this part of the world, is that this extremely talented and affable singer has plans to perform in Colombo before the year is out.

DK Promotioins are in the process of working out the concert arrangements with Derrick.

The organisers are thinking of the BMICH, and a leading Colombo school is likely to get involved in this mega event.

Derrick J, as he is known Down Under also has plans to introduce to the Colombo audience two Australian female singers who will lend chorus support to him, in addition to doing some solo stuff.

A concert by Derrick J would be worth looking forward to. So let's keep our fingers crossed.

"Lurid Remains" coming soon

Forlorn Hope

Forlorn Hope, who classify themselves as a Black Metal outfit, are working on three new tracks for their second EP, which is being called "Lurid Remains."

Their first, entitled "Wilted", was released in 2004 and limited to only 500 copies which sold out in less than a month.

As they hail from Kandy, this made them big in the Hill Capital, and they enhanced their reputation by doing several concerts in their hometown.

Early in the year, the guys released a track from their upcoming EP, called "Congregate: One Fist Of Fire" and, according to sources, it did receive much attention - both locally and internationally.

It peaked at No. 19 on the official soundclick.com Death/Black Metal chart out of nearly 12,000 songs.

Following the success of this track, the band released "Blessed Are The Helpless" and they say it premiered on the local rock music portal Rock.LK.

Forlorn Hope was formed in 2003 and the members have a strong affinity for old school Black Metal created by the likes of Bathory, Gorgoroth, Mayhem, Enthroned Burzura and Emperor.

Their own creations generally touch on topics like sadism, religious or political oppression and misanthropy.

Forlorn Hope's line-up for recording purposes is made up of Buddhika (vocals), TPKR (drums), Mackay (guitar/bass), Dias (bass) and Pinto (guitar).

JOEY in action at the BMICH

Joey Lewis

Joey Lewis, a big name in the local showbiz scene before he decided to settle down in England, will be giving an exclusive performance on Saturday, August 25th, at the BMICH.

"Hits of Yesteryear," a musical event being put together by DK Promotions, in association with the Wesley College Parent-Teacher Association, will have Joey doing songs he is famous for, as well as a couple of ballads with Sunil of the Gypsies and Ronnie Leitch.

The concert will also feature Corrine, Ricky Bahar, Shenelle, Keerthi Pasqual, Annesley Malawana and Mariazelle.

They will all be doing English songs, with the exception of Sunil, Keerthi and Annesley.

Ultimate will be on the show as well, providing the musical backing for all the artistes.

Joey's appearance in the scene here will be extra special as he hasn't obliged his local fans for quite a long while.

We are proud to say that Joey's association with "Hits Of Yesteryear" all came about because of Sri Lanka's leading music page - "Star Track," of course.

Seen 'n' Heard

HEARD... their status in the music scene have dropped drastically.

They are now very much less in demand and their original asking price have been almost halved.

The reason for all this is because some of these artistes were projected as stars with hardly a decent singing voice.

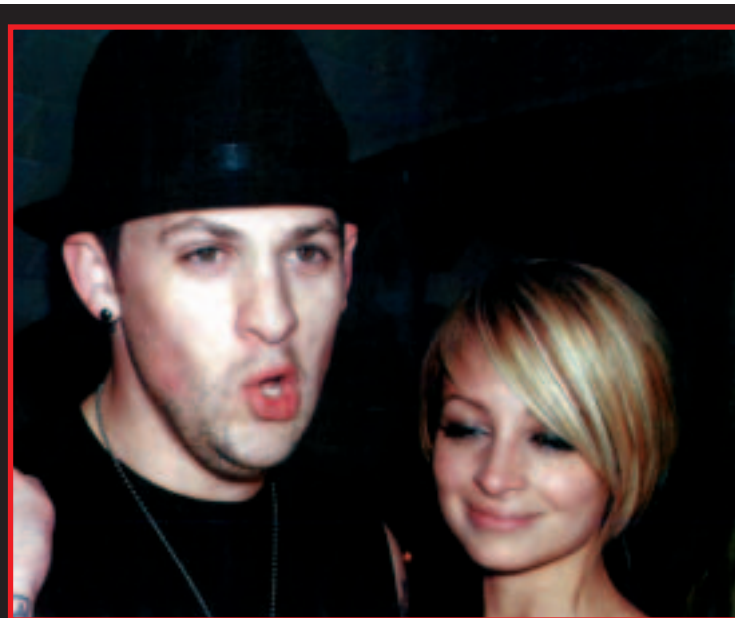

Obviously, the public can't be fooled all the time.

NICOLE RICHIE: Engaged to rocker Joel Madden

Shotgun wedding for Nicole?

Nicole Richie, 25, and pregnant, has been spotted out shopping for engagement rings with Good Charlotte rocker, Joel Madden, 28. Sources say a shotgun wedding is imminent.

Although the socialite says she's in love, behind the scenes there's been fighting, and also a rift with her father.

Nicole reunited with her famous father, singer Lionel Richie, after completing rehab, but now she has cut him out of her life again in favour of Joel. And Lionel admits that he is no longer close to his adopted daughter.

"Nicole is probably one of those wonderful people that will not tell her father until I keep going. 'Come on, Nic. I'm your father. What's going on?' lamented Lionel about Nic's pregnancy.

"(She'll say) 'nothing, dad, nothing.' So right now she's in nothing mode. I don't know", said the singer who is rumoured to be coming this way for a concert performance.

"At this point, she's kind of got me on the silent thing," added the soul singer.

As for Lionel Richie coming this way for a concert performance, it's kind of hard to believe, especially with the current security situation in the country.

According to promoter, Damayantha Kuruppu, the story going round is that a Lionel Richie concert is likely to become a reality soon.

But he says no one seems to know who's doing it. Great.
