EXPLOSIVE happenings with AQUARIUS

Benjy and his band of musicians, better known as Aquarius, have awesome plans for local music lovers.

They arrived in Colombo early this month from Qatar where they heated up the scene at the Qube discotheque, Ramada Doha.

They were, in fact, the talk-of-the-town in that part of the world, and they had for company three female vocalists from the Philippines who sizzled away onstage with their dynamic vocals and stage presentation.

Speaking to "Star Track" last week, Benjy said he plans to create the very some atmosphere in the scene here as well.

And the good news we have is that Aquarius have been signed up to perform at the Galadari Hotel Colombo during the month of December, culminating with the hotel's New Year's Eve celebrations.

And Benjy is adamant to make his stint at the Galadari Hotel extra special in every way.

He said he is discussing with the hotel management the best way possible to give the public something new - something that would turn out to be memorable for the guests.

At the Qube in Qatar, Benjy came up with an invention that had fire emanating from his guitar whole he boomed away on stage.

It was a thrilling experience for the audience at the Qube, said Benjy, "and I want to make it happen at this end, too".

Even the countdown to the New Year, 2009, is going to be unique, according to Benjy.

"We are going to create a blast and everyone's gonna have a rocking good time", he said.

Of course, the added attraction will be the energetic and charismatic female singers from overseas who are bound to electrify proceedings.

Benjy went on to say that they would all join up for some intense practice sessions next month.

"We plan to do some gigs during the month of November before settling for an exclusive one month stint Benjy and Aquarius will be in town for a few more months in 2009.

"Hopefully, we would be able to entertain our fans in January and February of next year as well."

The Big 21 at The Blue

The Blue Elephant discotheque, popularly known as The Blue - the night pulse of Colombo, will open its doors once again, for two days, on September 19th and 20th, to celebrate the Big 21 Anniversary of Hilton Colombo.

The Blue Elephant was the first real discotheque in Sri Lanka, and the official opening was on 2nd July, 1987. The first Sri Lankan resident DJ was Bunty Noordeen who was succeeded by Kapila Mohotti who later trained Harith Kotandeniya to take over as the resident DJ.

At the inception, Kapila and Naushad - popularly known as DJ Shad - worked behind the bar, doing a different kind of mixing with cocktails (as barmen). The duo later became DJ's at the Blue. Among the other prominent DJ's who performed at the Blue are Viran, the late Ray, Mani, Thoshan, Pradeep and Danushka.

The DJ's who will be featured for the Blue Elephant anniversary gig will be the KNH Project (Kapila, Naushad & Harith), Bunty, Pradeep, Danushka, Wendel and Ben.

Blue Elephant fans can reminiscence the good old days this Friday and Saturday, from 10 p.m. onwards.

Sponsored by Gold FM, it will be one hell of a party, with many surprises, making it an unforgettable event, said Kapila Mohotti who is now the Food & Beverage Manager.

He also stated there will be special themes and deals on both nights at the Blue Elephant.

Seen 'n' Heard

HEARD... the story doing the rounds is that because of his close connections, they got the nod.

It may not be factual, but such competitions are open to criticism and gossip of this nature.

When transparency is totally lacking, naturally this would be the ultimate outcome.

It's hard to fathom why people like doing it the controversial way!

Jamie Lynn Spears sends support gift to politi-

Teenage mum Jamie Lynn Spears

Teenage mum, JAMIE LYNN SPEARS, has sent troubled Alaskan 17-year-old Bristol Palin a baby gift package following the scandal surrounding her pregnancy.

Spears, who revealed she was pregnant last Christmas - when she was just 16 - feels a kinship to Palin, the daughter of U.S. Republican vice-presidential hopeful, Sarah Palin, and decided to show her support by sending designer baby burp cloths.

The Palin family confirmed reports their eldest daughter was pregnant shortly after the Alaskan governor was picked as Senator John McCain's running mate in the upcoming presidential election.

U.S. TV show "Access

Hollywood" has revealed Jamie Lynn's mother, Lynne Spears, called Los Angeles baby boutique, Petit Tresor, on her daughter's behalf to order a small gift.

A store insider said Lynne and Jamie Lynn wanted to send a gift worth under $100 to Bristol, and chose a collection of Plain Mary white burp cloths with pink writing.

The note attached to the gift read, "Dear Bristol, Hang in there... xoxo, Jamie Lynn."

Mercedes for Miley

MILEY CYRUS has treated herself to a brand new Mercedes convertible - even though she's too young to drive it.

The 15-year-old pop sensation doesn't turn 16 until November 16th this year but she's already bought herself a gift - a $75,000 white Mercedes-Benz CLK 550 Cabriolet.

According to a source, "Miley wanted special options like parking assist and a cream-coloured leather interior, so she ordered the car early.

"She's telling everyone that she hopes to get a car when she turns 16, so when it comes, she can say it was a surprise from her parents."
